Client: McDonald's Rotherham 2.0
Industry: Foodservice and Retail Chain
Platform: Wordpress (Elementor)
Date: 2022 January - September, One a month to be designed replicated and set live.

Pages: 4

Software: Adobe Photoshop, Illustrator & In-design

Brief: The website I built for the McDonald's Rotherham Recruitment, using WordPress and Elementor as a builder, is a user-friendly platform designed to streamline the recruitment process for the restaurant chain. The main goal of the website is to provide interested individuals with detailed information about the company, the available job positions, and the application process. The website also serves as a direct line of communication between potential employees and the HR department, making it easier for applicants to ask questions, receive updates, and submit their applications.

This website has been optimized for seamless integration with Google Pixel. This means that when the marketing team runs ads, users who click on the ads will be directed directly to the website, providing a smooth and user-friendly experience. The website has been designed with a clean and modern interface, making it easy for users to find the information they need, including job postings and the application process. Additionally, the website is fully responsive, ensuring that users can access it from any device, anywhere, at any time.

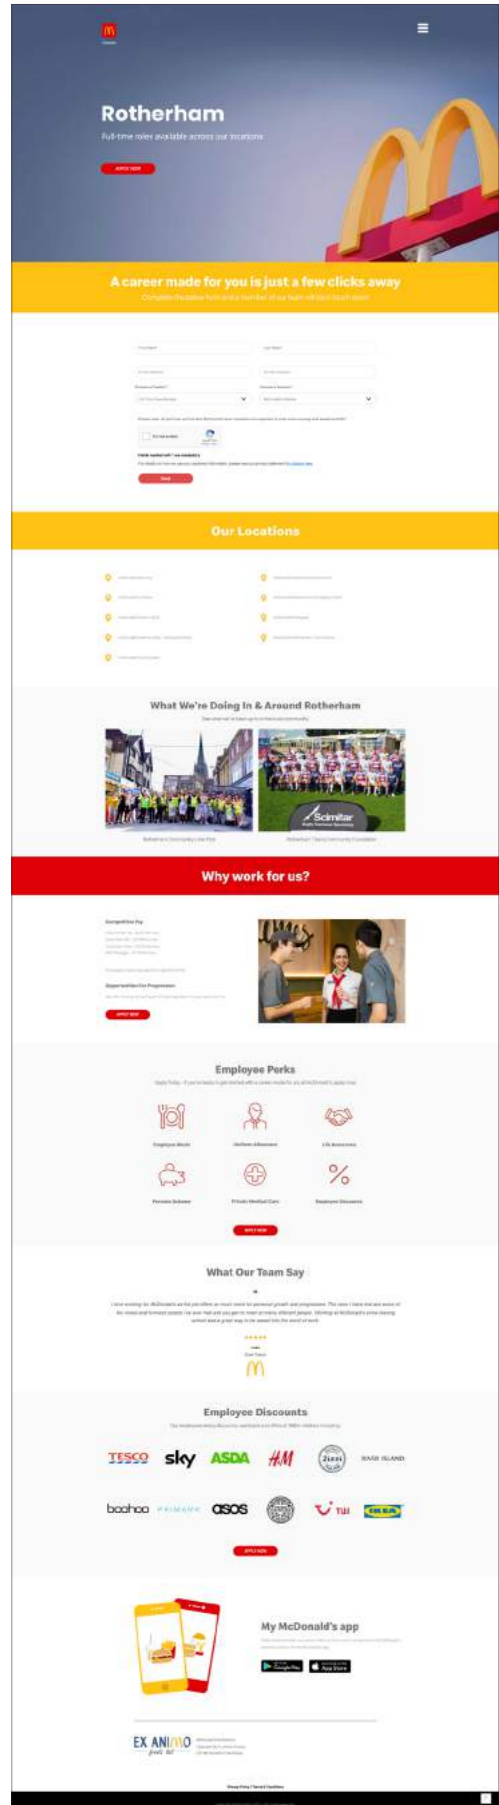

The homepage provides a brief overview of the company, contact form, locations, blog, why work for us, employee perks, employee reviews, employee discounts and links to applications. The contact form is where individuals can view and apply for current job openings, and the Apply Now button anchors them to the application. Overall, the website is designed to make the recruitment process more accessible and efficient for both applicants and the company.
